FROM NEW YORK TO DEAR OLD BRECKENRIDGE

To a wanderer who through fate has drifted from home it is indeed a sublime pleasure and privilege to return again to the old familiar scenes and the loved ones and to me came that sweet joy this summer after an absence of over two years.

On Sunday, Sept. 6, at 5:08 p. m. I bade adieu to my dear husband and started on my journey homeward over the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad. In an incredible short time the city was left behind us and we emerged into the beautiful open country where nature in all its beauty and splendor unfolded itself on every side. The fields of waving corn bowed to us as the train sped onward and we could see beautiful winding crystal rivers rushing on to join the mighty sea. Then as the afternoon waned to its close and the sun withdrew majestically behind the rich heavy drapery of the night clouds a Sabbath reverence seemed to pervade the atmosphere. Night came and one could see no longer from the wonder window of the moving train.

Finally I retired to my berth to endeavor to gain repose, but what with thinking of the joy before me, the welcome awaiting me and the anxiety to see loved ones, my eyes refused to close and sleep was an impossibility that night. I lay awake catching glimpses of passing villages distinguishable in the night only by the few stray twinkling lights or watching with interest when we arrived at some station.

At last in all its splendor came the dawn; the first gray light faded and melted away before the glorious golden beams of sunrise as the sun rose magnificently over the Virginia hills and bathed the valleys and the rivers in its beauty. We passed Clifton Forge at sunrise.

Breakfast was called and I repaired to the dining car. To one who has never traveled far it is hard to realize the luxury of a dining car. One sits at a well-appointed table of excellent cuisine, while around them nature unfolds her wonder-book of ever-changing scenery. The day passed for me divided between the interest of the wondrous scenery and the joyous anticipation of my home-coming. I must confess that as the dusk fell and I realized that I was at last nearing home my heart beat quicker and the journey began to grow monotonous, time seeming an eternity.

Onward and ever onward sped the train and at last we crossed the border line into dear old Kentucky, the state that is still to me the grandest state in all the union. We traveled parallel with the Ohio river. I could distinguish each familiar landmark; each light on the river seemed to blink a welcome to me and each turn of the wheel seemed to sing to me "My Old Kentucky Home. Puffing and blowing the engine at last brought its burden of human freight into the Seventh st. station at Louisville, and in my anxiety to see my people I was almost the first to alight from the train, where my father and mother awaited my coming. With one bound I was folded in their arms, and with that loving welcome the tediousness of the journey, the pain of long absence and the yearning to see them all melted away into the supreme happiness of the homecoming.

The visit at Louisville was most pleasant. I visited all my friends and relatives and also went to the Fair, which I thought even better and more interesting than in previous years. Each day was more interesting and more full of pleasure than the preceding one. We also went to Lodiaburg and spent a few days and it was certainly happiness to meet old childhood friends and view old familiar scenes.

After two weeks of indescribable happiness and pleasure, which shall ever be treasured in memories dear, I bade farewell to friends and loved ones in Kentucky and started back to the great metropolis. My straining eyes watched the loved ones at the station until distance hid them from my view and I was again a traveler.

When we passed Frankfort, Ky., I looked from my window and saw on a beautiful sunny verdant slope the magnificent capitol building and it made me proud to be a child of Kentucky. The limited trains between Louisville and New York travel fast and it was not long before Kentucky lay far behind us and new and strange scenes were ever opening up before us.

We passed Washington, D. C., late in the afternoon and as the train was delayed there for a while I alighted. I caught a glimpse of the White House just as the sun was going down and it was a beautiful sight bathed in the golden afternoon sun.

The train was delayed two hours in getting into New York, but finally I arrived safe and sound at the Pennsylvania station in New York, where my husband was waiting with outstretched arms to welcome me back again.

The only regret that came to me was that my dear husband could not accompany me on the trip, but the press of business made it impossible for him to get away.

In pleasant memories I go back over the journey: I see again the welcoming loved ones awaiting my home coming, enjoy the old familiar scenes and retrace my footsteps over the beaten paths which lead homeward.

Before closing I wish to say that Louisville has improved and is improving wonderfully. Kentucky sounds sweeter to me than ever and the hospitality of its people cannot be excelled anywhere in this wide world.

To all I send greetings.

Cordially yours,

MRS. C. M. BEARDSLEY,

CHRISTMAS IN DEAR OLD CLOVERPORT

Sunday Schools Will Have
Christmas Trees--Christmas
Boxes Are Being Prepared
For Little Strangers to Santa.

COMMITTEES ARE APPOINTED

Everybody's getting ready for Christmas in Cloverport. The stores are all in trim for the holiday trade. Cloverport's Christmas store is all aglow with brilliant decorations and attractive window displays. Many have their Christmas presents made and wrapped and even wish they had them all to fix over again. The young women have made many lovely gifts in the way of handkerchiefs, bags, baskets, shoe trees, slipper bags, hand-made lingerie, men's ties, and practical garments.

The Sunday schools are making plans to have elaborate Christmas trees. The committees are going to take special pains this year to see that every little child in Cloverport will get an orange, a banana and some candy.

And this isn't all, the friends of Santa Claus, are looking far beyond their own children and homes. They are preparing Christmas gifts for the little boys and girls whose hearts are longing for one glimpse of Santa. If you want to give away some little toys--some toys that you really loathe to part with--send them to The Breckenridge News office for the Choral Club box. The members will see that they will make some child happy this Christmas. If you have any clothes your children have outgrown, send these.

At J. C. Nolte & Bro's there is a box to be filled for the Methodist Orphan's Home. It is hoped that no one will forget the little children without mothers and fathers who need all that the world can give them.

Funds are being received at the Bank of Cloverport by Mr. Paul Lewis for the Belgians. This Christmas in Cloverport ought to be the happiest one the town has ever known--so many are opening their hearts and purses. 'Tis Christmas in dear old Cloverport.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

A Letter From Santy Claus to Irvington Hardware and Implement Co.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 7th, 1914.

Irvington Hardware & Imp. Co.,
Irvington, Kentucky.

Gentlemen:—

The federal authorities have quarantined here on account of my Rein-Deer having become infected with the dreaded "Foot and Mouth" disease. For that reason it will be impossible for me to reach Irvington this Christmas; so I have decided to make your store my headquarters, and appoint you my agent to distribute my big supply of Christmas goods.

Among the numerous things I am shipping you today, you will find for the little boys and girls, Doll Chairs, Rocking Horses, Shoo-Fly, Banks, Sparklers, Pistols, Stoves, Blocks, Trains, Horns, Rubber Dolls, Etc. For the grown up folks you will find Cut-Glass, Cassaroles, Baking Dishes, Silverware, Fancy China, Flashlights, Buffe's, Sideboards. Rocking Chairs, Desks, and all kinds of Elegant Furniture. And, by the way, the prices are the lowest ever, and the quality can't be surpassed.

Do not fail to notify every body in and around Irvington of my terrible predicament so they will not be expecting me, and can avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to secure their Christmas needs of you.

Wishing you a Merry Christmas, and hoping to see you in person in 1915,

I am, yours very truly,

THERE are two kinds of discontent in this world—the discontent that works and the discontent that wrings its hands. The first gets what it wants and the second loses what it has. There's no cure for the first but success; and there's no cure at all for the second.—Lorimer.

Is There a Santa Claus?

Published In The New York Sun 1897.

We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of THE SUN.

"DEAR EDITOR: I am 8 years old.

"Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus.

"Papa says 'if you see it in THE SUN it's so'.

"Please tell me the truth; is there a Santa Claus?

"VIRGINIA O'HANLON.

"115 West Ninety-fifth Street,"

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the scepticism of a sceptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus. It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no child-like faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God! he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

THE COUNTY'S PAUPER LIST.

Those who are interested in the affairs of our county and read the proceedings of the Breckenridge County Fiscal Court last week, were gratified to see the good work our officials are doing for the needy, the aged and the blind. The county cares for eleven paupers in the Poor House and forty-six outside, seeing they get enough to Announcement.

Having recently moved into new offices, two doors from our old ones in the Farmers Bank building, and, being alone in the practice, I feel that it is only justice to myself to make the following statement, responsive to certain erroneous and prejudicial rumors that I have heard for several weeks, and which I desire it understood have not emanated from my former partner, Mr. Ball.

The fact that I am away from home a part of the time, discharging the duties of Commonwealth's Attorney in other counties, and the further fact that I represent the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Railway Company, in local cases, do not prevent my accepting other employment, not inconsistent, nor do these employments keep me too busy to serve my other clients, as heretofore, as has been reported. I am always at home a week before and after and during each Circuit Court, and much of the other time; and I am in position to look after civil business in ours and other courts of the district, the rumor that a Commonwealth's Attorney cannot accept other employment being erroneous.

With sincerest gratitude to those who have heretofore entrusted their business to me, and with assurance that my attention and methods shall be the same in the future, and inviting from my friends a social visit in my new quarters, I am

Respectfully,

HENRY DEHAVEN MOORMAN

keep soul and body together. Besides several sick persons have been nursed and other acts of charity administered. Giving the eleven homeless persons a clean, comfortable place to live in, is a great work of our county. Those of us who live away from the county seat, who never visit the poor house and other institutions, are almost wholly ignorant of public service. The Pauper Commission should be encouraged in their helpful administration.

The trained nurse hoped for last summer could have been of untold service here while the little people have measles. How we wish for the visiting nurse to administer to the children and even the grown-ups who are ill.

Learn to let people tell you things which they think is for your good and especially when it is for their good. Sometimes it might help you and often times it may help to make others happier.

One consolation about seeing time fly, is getting debts paid.

Black Minorcas—First cock, Phil McGary; first and second hen, Phil McGary. First and second cockerel, Phil McGary; first pullet, Phil McGary. White Leghorns—First and second cockerel, P. M. Beard; first and second pullet, P. M. Beard.

Breeding Pens—All ages and breeds competing—First, Phil McGary, black minorcas; second, M. D. Beard, Rhode Island reds; third, Frank McGary, white orpingtons; fourth, Herbert Hall, white Wyandotts; fifth, Mrs. Thomas O'Donough, Barred Plymouth Rocks.

Best Male Bird, any age or breed competing—First, Phil McGary, black minorcas; second, M. D. Beard, Rhode Island Red.

Best Female, any age or breed competing—First, Phil McGary, black minorcas; second, M. D. Beard, Rhode Island red.

Turkeys Bronze—First tom, Thos. Beard; second tom, Mrs. Frank Jolly. First hen, Thos. Beard; second hen, Mrs. Frank Jolly.

The Barred Plymouth Rock class was very strong, while Mrs. O'Donough won first cock; John A. Kennedy was a close second. The first cockerel of Mrs. O'Donough as well as the first hen and first pullet of Thomas Beard were show birds good enough to enter in any state show.

The White Plymouth Rocks of Wayne Hall and White Orpingtons of Frank McGary were admired by everyone who entered the show room and were birds full of merit, not only as utility, but plenty of fancy and show qualities.

The Rhode Island Red class were very, very strong and the blue ribbon winners were worthy of the honors. After the blue had been awarded to the cock bird of Mrs. Forrest Galloway and the hen of Rev. S. K. Hunt it was then a battle royal between Mrs. Galloway, M. D. Beard and George Evans as to whose cockerel would get the blue, Mr. Beard winning.

The honors were about equally divided between C. Gude Hendrick and J. R. Eskridge on Buff Orpingtons.

The Black Orpington cockerel and pullet entered by Dr. W. A. Walker were beauties and worthy of the blue.

The Black Minorcas of Phil McGary were very classy and pronounced by Prof. Slade as being "Madison Square winners."

The White Leghorns of P. M. Beard came in for their part of admiration as well as the honors justly due them and created a sensation when the five females entered deposited five white eggs the first day of the show.

The Bronze Turkeys, entered by Thomas Beard and Mrs. Frank Jolly, were beauties, and every visitor would

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Because It's One Thing Only, and Cloverport People Appreciate This.

Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing well brings success. Doan's Kidney Pills are for one thing only.

For weak or disordered kidneys. Here is reliable evidence of their worth.

Mrs. F. M. Boswell, Seventh St., Cannelton, Ind., says: "Some time ago I suffered terribly from backache and couldn't bend or stoop. I was also bothered at night, being unable to rest well and during the day I was in such misery that I could hardly walk. Nothing helped me, although I tried everything I heard of. Finally Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me and I got a box. They helped me so much that I continued taking them until I was relieved of the troubles. I have had no return of kidney complaint and I am willing to give this statement in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills."

linger at their coops. No less admired by all were the pair of White Pekin Ducks and Emden Geese entered by Mrs. Thos. O'Donough.

The managers are very grateful to the Masonic Order for so kindly opening their beautiful store room for the show.

It was announced that the second annual show would be held in 1915, and every breeder in the county—whether you are a member of the association or not—is urged to begin preparing for the 1915 show.

We would not forget to express our appreciation to the Kentucky Experiment Station for sending Prof. Slade to assist and judge the show, which he did with credit to himself and satisfaction to all.

And last, but not least, we will again thank the business and professional men of Hardinsburg for the liberal donation by them to pay all premiums awarded and to The Breckenridge News and Record Press for the assistance rendered in advertising the show.
